PRP is a widely used cosmetic and medical treatment. PRP stands for platelet-rich plasma and is used as a regenerative medicine. It amplifies the body's own natural abilities to heal. PRP can be used therapeutically as well as for cosmetic applications like microneedling.

In this exciting program you will learn how to administer PRP in conjunction with microneedling for superior anti-aging results. Training is delivered by our seasoned team of nurse practitioner injection educators that have been in the industry for over 20 years teaching dermal fillers, and other injectable treatments.
